NISH CAPTURED BY BULGARIANS

KITCHENER IS SENT TO BALKANS

Serb Army Is Virtually Trapped; Germans in Successes

More Than Half of Kingdom Won by Invaders

By Associated Press.
BERLIN, Nov. 6, by wireless to Sayville.—The capture of Nish, Serbia, by the Bulgarians was announced officially here today.

With the exception of Belgrade, Nish is the largest city in Serbia. Soon after the outbreak of the war the capital was transferred from Belgrade to Nish. There the government remained until the city was threatened by the invaders. In the last month various towns have been mentioned as the temporary seat of the government.

Nish is situated on the main railroad line of Serbia, running from Belgrade to Saloniki. There are no recent statistics of its population, which 26 years ago was 21,500. More than half of Serbia is now in possession of the invaders, who also have taken the greater part of the country's railroad system. The new junction effected between Austro-German and Bulgarian forces reported by Berlin today completes the semi-circular wall of hostile armies about the retreating Serbians.

It is said in Berlin that the Serbians have an open line of less than 70 miles for retreat into Montenegro. Should they seek refuge in that country they would be menaced by Austrian forces, which already have begun an attack along the northern and western Montenegrin frontiers.

AMSTERDAM, via London, Nov. 6, 2:53 p. m.—A telegram from a Sofia news agency says that one Bulgarian division has entered the Serbian city of Nish.

War Secretary May Give Up His Portfolio

By Associated Press.
LONDON, Nov. 6, 6:50 p. m.—It was officially announced this evening that Field Marshal Earl Kitchener had gone to the Eastern theater of war. The official statement reads: "Earl Kitchener, at the request of his colleagues, has left England for a short visit to the Eastern theater of war." The Post says that Kitchener has been entrusted with an important mission to the near East, and already has departed from London.

"It is generally believed," says the Post, "that Earl Kitchener's business will necessitate a stay so prolonged that it will be necessary to fill his place at the War Office before long. It is true that he has not resigned, but the importance of his present errand makes it certain that his resignation is only delayed."

The suggestion has been made that Lord Haldane be brought back to the War Office, but this is probably unfounded.

KING INTERVIEWED.
Retraction of the report that Earl Kitchener had placed his resignation as secretary of state for war in the hands of the King has brought forth an official report to the contrary.

The policy of the British government in respect of both the Dardanelles expedition and the Serbian campaign has been subjected to severe criticism in England, and if the statement of the Post is correct, the war secretary presumably has been sent to the near East to determine by personal inspection the proper policy for Great Britain or to supervise some movement of importance already decided upon.

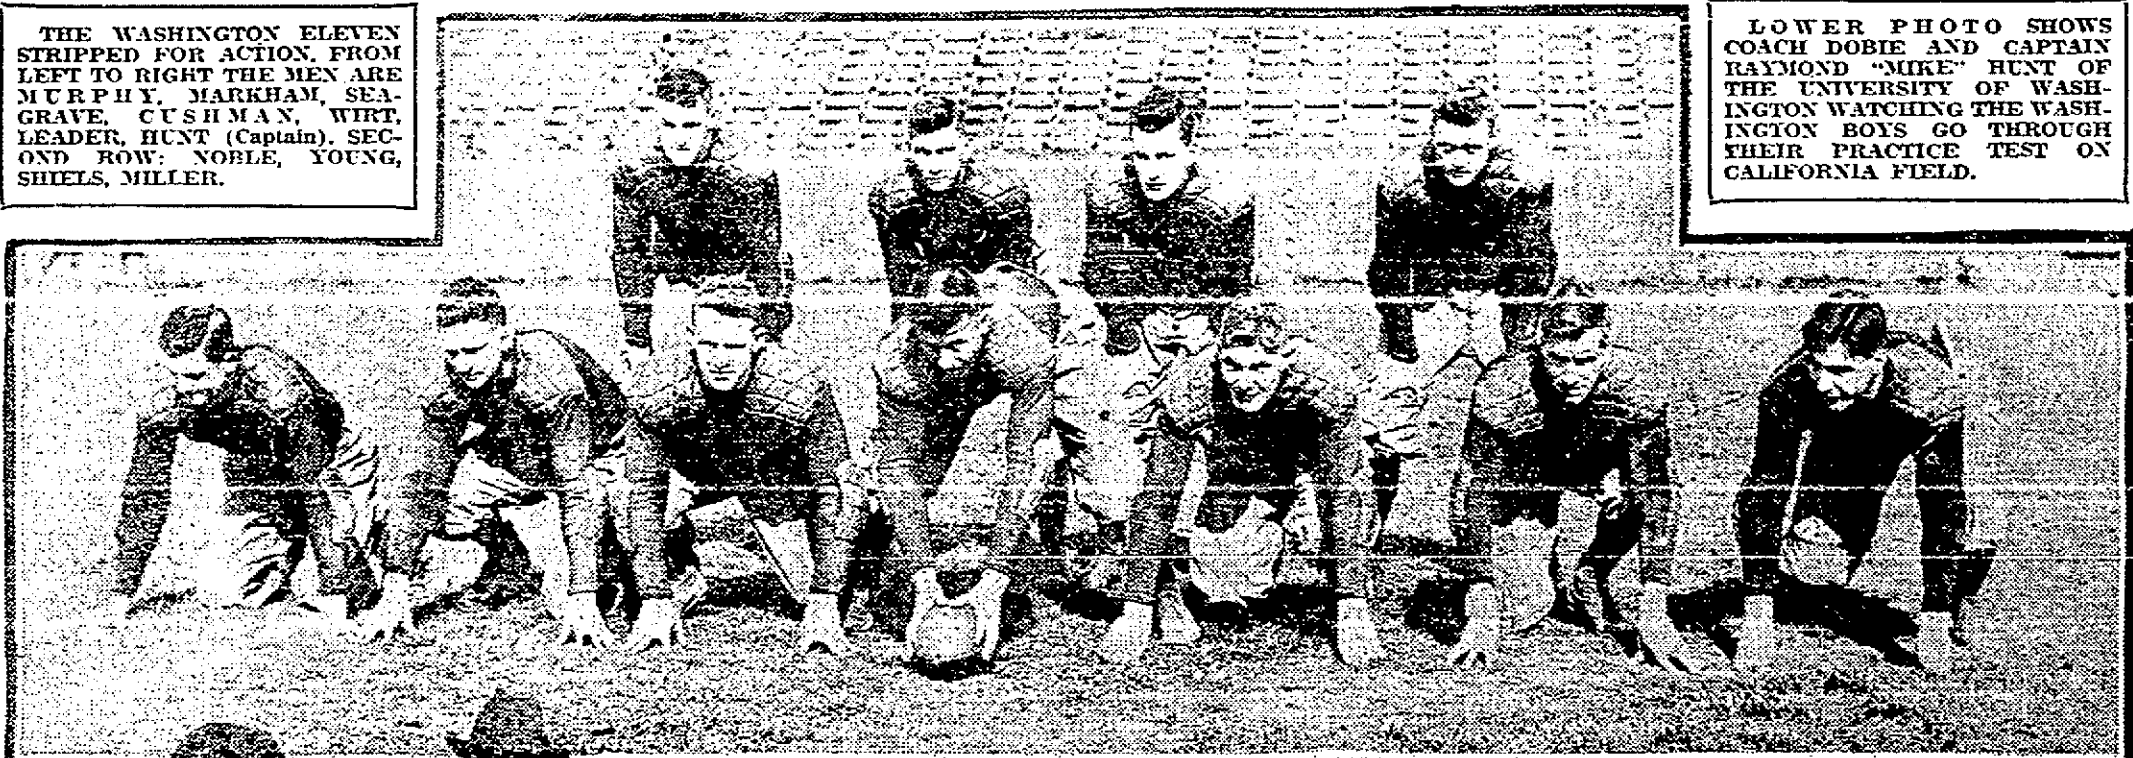

According to the Daily Graphic, Earl Kitchener saw the King Thursday night, as was announced yesterday, at the King's own request.

The Graphic, urging the government not to delay the disclosure of the actual fact, suggests that Lord Derby, who is now in charge of British recruiting, would make an excellent war minister.

THOMAS H. WILLIAMS, FAMOUS TURFMAN OF WEST, DIES IN OAKLAND

Thomas H. Williams, president of the California Jockey Club and the man who was chiefly responsible for the high standard of the horseracing game in the West, died at his home, 524 Jackson street at 5:15 o'clock this morning, following an illness of more than a year's duration. He was 52 years of age and had headed western racing interests for twenty-five years. Williams was a native of California and had lived in this state virtually all of his life. He was born in Sacramento. His father was the late General Thomas H. Williams, at one time attorney general of the state of Nevada.

Williams was taken ill more than a year ago, suffering with a complication of disorders, due to trouble of the heart. He had been confined to his bed for the past several months. It was in 1890 that Williams came into the racing game of the West. The "sport of kings" was on its "last legs" in California when he took over the affairs of the Pacific Coast Blood Horse Association, personally assuming all the debts of that organization, which was threatened with extinction. By gradual degrees and through the pursuit of sound business principles, he restored the blood horse association to its former dominion of the West's racing interests.

He first established a racetrack at Fifth avenue and Fulton street in San Francisco. After several years

VAST ASSEMBLAGE SEES GAME SURPRISES SPRUNG BY ROOTERS

Gay Bedecked Crowd Blue and Gold Clashes in First Game With Northerners

Washington took the lead immediately from California and held their opponents 19-0 at the end of the first quarter.

California kicked off in today's Washington-California game, Washington receiving the ball and carrying it up the field for consistent gain of an average of seven yards. Washington seemed to feel the California defense and pored their way toward the California goal.

Washington's backfield men went through the California line, putting the Bears on the defensive, and Washington scored a touchdown five minutes after the play had started, when Miller carried the ball over. Washington 7, California 0.

California again kicked off, but the Washington backs failed to go through the California line this time as well as they did on their first kickoff. Washington punted, Sharpe receiving the ball, but was downed in his tracks. California failed to make any gains through Washington's line and was forced to punt.

Miller of Washington carried the ball through the California line for a 30-yard gain, being tackled on California's 15-yard line by Sharpe. Washington scored their second touchdown on the next play when Young of Washington took the ball across California's line.

Miller failed to touch goal. The score now stands, Washington 13, California 0. California kicked off for a third time and the Washington backfield again made their constant gain through the varsity line.

Time was taken out because of an injury to Shiel of Washington. The northern team continued to plow its way through the California defense.

Sullen skies, fleeting clouds, a dry field and the crisp feel of winter in the air, gave promise early today of typical "football weather" for the clash this afternoon between the eleven of Washington and California.

The struggle marks the return of American collegiate football to the bay cities, after its long exile in favor of the rugby style of play. In place of her usual opponent, Stanford University, California today faces the University of Washington, acknowledged champions of the great Northwest.

The visitors are trained and schooled by Coach "Gill" Dobie, tall tactician of the gridiron, whose reputation is nationwide. They have not been defeated in seven years and figure to win with comparative ease over the Californians, not a man of whom has ever played the American game until three months ago.

The usual procession of automobiles and vehicles of every kind began to converge on Berkeley long before the noon hour. For the first time in eleven years the defiant colors of Stanford were nowhere to be seen. The blue and gold of California and the violet and gold of Washington were so much alike that there was a striking unanimity of color in the apparel of milady and her ribbon-bedecked college escort.

OFFICIALS HOLD CONFERENCE.
Both football squads were up bright and early, following a long night's rest. At a conference held in training quarters on the Berkeley campus, minor officials such as scorers and linesmen were selected. George Varnell, who will referee, and "Stump" Scott, umpire, participated in the conference.

California field was covered with canvas last night in anticipation of rain, but the precaution proved unnecessary.

The teams will line up at 2:30 and will play four periods of fifteen minutes each, with a ten-minute interval between the second and third halves. The Siwash rooting section, this year, while smaller than the customary Stanford noise-making brigade, was nevertheless a formidable proposition. Two hundred and fifty students, with the Washington brass band, formed the nucleus of the opposition to California's yell leaders. Scores of visiting northerners sat with the Washington students and wore the violet and gold.

Washington displayed in its rooting section a gigantic hok emblem—some of the northern slogan, "The hook for California."

Tonight the big football show will be held in Harnon gymnasium, another upstart of precedent. For the first time in eight years women will be admitted to the performance. Yandeville acts and playlet by Ted Haley will constitute the program.

Many games are scheduled today throughout the west. Both rugby and the "old game" is being played. The following games are scheduled for this afternoon:

Washington vs. California, Berkeley. Stanford vs. Olympic, Stanford. Oregon vs. Southern California, Los Angeles. Pomona vs. Sherman Indians, Riverside. University of Arizona vs. New Mexico Aggies, Mesilla Park, N. M. Montana vs. Washington State, Pullman. Oregon Aggies vs. Idaho, Corvallis, Ore. Colorado Aggies vs. Wyoming, Laraine, Wyo. University of Denver vs. Colorado Mines, Denver.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 6.—Harvard's game at Princeton today stands first in importance among the Eastern gridiron battles. Friends of Harvard look to the crimson to prove, despite its defeats this season, that it is still entitled to its old-time place among the leaders. Charles E. Ideal football weather greeted the teams, the thousands of followers of the rival universities here from all sections of the East expected one of the most spectacular struggles of the season.

CROWD SEE GIRLS BURN TO DEATH

Flames Spread About Building, Cutting Off Escape

Six-story Building Crematory for Score of Persons

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Twenty men and girls were killed and more than fifty others were injured, according to the police, in a fire that swept through a four-story wooden factory building in North Sixth street in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn today.

Ambulances and physicians were rushed to the scene. Survivors reported that the stairways were a mass of flames.

A majority of the 250 employees in the building were said to have been on the upper floors occupied by the Essex Shirt Company and a cloak manufacturing concern. The Diamond Candy Company occupied the two lower floors.

Panic-stricken men and girls jumped from fire escapes as the flames threatened to envelop them.

DEATH KILLS THREE.

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—A number of women and girls are reported to have been killed in a fire that swept through a six-story candy factory at No. 335 North Sixth street in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn today.

The police state at least fifteen girls and men had either been burned to death or fatally hurt when they jumped to the street from overcrowded fire escapes. Within a short time after the fire broke out three girls at a window were killed by a blast of flame.

The fire started in the quarters of the Diamond Candy Company, located on the third and fourth floors, and spread so rapidly that many of the women and girls were forced to jump from the windows and fire escapes. All of these received serious injuries, and ambulances were called from hospitals to care for them.

The police said forty-five girls and a number of men had been injured and carried to hospitals.

EIGHT CAUGHT IN TRAP.

Eight girls had been burned to death on the first escape in the first few minutes, while a number of others, police say, had met a similar fate before they could reach the escapes. The fire started close to the stairs on the first floor.

Fifteen bodies nearly all girls, had been carried out of the building at 3 o'clock.

Firemen said a number of other bodies were lying just inside windows opening into the escapes and they estimated that the number of dead would be at least twenty.

At this time part of the roof collapsed, interfering for a time with the recovery of bodies.

ESCAPE CUT OFF.

Nearly all of the employees of the Diamond Candy company, on the ground floor, left at noon. It was near 2 p. m. when a girl employed in the office of the candy company started from the building and found smoke pouring from the main hallway from the stair well.

She notified her own firm, the Essex Shirt company, the B. L. U. Tailoring company, which occupied the upper floors where fully two hundred and fifty persons, mostly young girls, were at work.

When the doors leading to the stairs on the upper floors were opened, survivors told the police, the stairs already were afire and escape cut off. The doors were slammed shut, and the operatives on each floor rushed to windows opening onto the fire escapes.

GIRLS BURNED BEFORE CROWDS.

Within a few moments the ladders were jammed with frightened men and girls. Meanwhile the fire was spreading rapidly through the various floors.

A great crowd had gathered and many spectators called to the girls and men on the escapes not to jump. In what seemed to be an incredibly short time, however, flames began pouring through several windows.

A few moments later the crowd was horrified to see a number of girls burned to death as they clung to a fire escape.

WOMAN STRUGGLES WITH MANIAC JURIST LEAPS 3 STORIES TO DEATH

THIRD SUICIDE ATTEMPT IS SUCCESSFUL

Judge William G. Brittan of Berkeley, Escapes Nurse, Ends Life.

Miss Lila Mahan, pupil nurse at the Alta Bates sanatorium of Berkeley, is recovering today from the shock of a desperate battle which she waged yesterday evening with a wounded and crazed patient, Judge William G. Brittan, and which ended only when the former jurist tore himself from her determined grasp, leaped through a window and fell three stories to almost immediate death.

All credit for a plucky fight is given at the hospital this morning to the young nurse. She bears marks and bruises of her encounter, and is suffering somewhat from the nervous excitement attendant upon it, but is not seriously hurt.

Judge Brittan leaped from his bed, where he was under treatment for a bullet wound that passed through his body and which had been self-inflicted with suicidal intent, when the nurse for a brief instant turned her back upon him. Fearing him, she moved about in time to see him making for the open window of his room with the stealth of a maniac. Without thought for herself she leaped upon him. She threw her arms about his neck and attempted to get a purchase with her foot against a table.

STRUGGLES WITH PATIENT.

Then in silence the two commenced their battle. Once Miss Mahan succeeded in pulling Judge Brittan back from the window only to lose her advantage a moment later. Finally with a half-blown and half-shove, he broke the girl's hold about his neck and hurled her scurried to the floor. Her shriek for help brought attendants of the hospital running into the room just as Judge Brittan, having clambered through the window, poised for a moment on the sill and then leaped into space.

Three floors below he fell upon a cement sidewalk, partially upon his head and partially upon his shoulder. Nurses rushed to his assistance, and he was carried back into the hospital. His skull was found to be fractured and, despite medical attention, he died soon afterward.

Miss Mahan was not the nurse regularly on the case, but had been assigned to it temporarily. Miss Lila Bunch, a special graduate nurse, had charge of Judge Brittan, but was forced to leave the room for a few moments to obtain his tray of food and during his absence left her younger associate with the patient.

This was the third attempt within twenty-four hours which Judge Brittan made to take his life. The preceding attempt was made by jumping from a Key Route ferry boat, but was prevented by deckhands and removed to his home at 3127 Claremont avenue. The same evening while members of his family were seated in a living room on the lower floor he went upstairs, secured a small caliber rifle and shot himself in the left breast. The bullet missed his heart, but ranged clear through his body.

RAZOR FOUND SECRETED.

He was hurried to Alta Bates Sanatorium and Dr. Hubert N. Rowell was called. In Dr. Rowell's absence on another case, his assistant, Dr. Warren B. Allen, reported and cared for the injured man. When the patient was removed at the hospital it was found that he had secreted a razor on his person, presumably with the intent of cutting his throat if the bullet failed to find its mark.

According to members of Judge Brittan's family, he had been suffering for the past week from the hallucination that he was being closely pursued by enemies intent upon taking his life. To his wife he had confided that the Black Hand had sworn to kill him. On a previous occasion, some years ago, he had been momentarily temporarily deranged, but had not exhibited suicidal mania.

Judge Brittan was 60 years of age and for many years had practiced law in the bay district. He was a graduate from the law department of the University of California with the class of 1886 and occupied for a brief period the office of judge of the Superior Court in San Francisco. He retired from practice several years ago.

Actress Is Sorry for Wife No. 1 'Didn't Know I Was Taking Him'

PAULINE LORD, ACTRESS, WHO DECLARES THAT SHE RESIGNS HER CLAIM TO HER SUPPOSED HUSBAND, BILLY ROCHE, TO HIS LEGAL WIFE, AND THAT SHE WILL ASK A DIVORCE PROCEEDINGS AGAINST THE PRIZE FIGHT REFEREE.

Pauline Lord and Mrs. Billy Roche Tell Stories of Queer Marital Predicaments

"I can't tell how sorry I am for Mrs. Roche, wife of Billy Roche, and her children. I would like to talk to her as one woman to another. I have the greatest sympathy for her. I cannot find it in my heart not to forgive her for the cruel charge she has made. How could I, a girl of 17, know I was taking from her, her husband?"

"I want to do everything I can to help the wife of Billy Roche and her children," Pauline Lord said.

"Billy Roche and I were never divorced. When I heard he had married an actress in New York I could not believe it. I don't see how Miss Roche could have found out that he had a family," Mrs. Nellie Roche said.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6.—Preparations were made today by Pauline Lord, actress, to sue for a divorce or annulment of marriage from Billy Roche, prize fighter referee and sportsman, as the result of the sensational allegation suit filed by Mrs. Nellie Roche of this city, which disclosed the fact that the man was claimed by two wives. Miss Lord charges that Roche threatened to kill her when she refused to live with him, and that she has tried for some time to avoid his attentions. She declares that she recognizes the older woman's prior claim, and that she will commence divorce proceedings at once. "I want to do all I can to help Mrs. Roche," she declared. "I fully forgive her for her charges against me. I did not know Billy had a family."

STORY LIKE NOVEL.

Miss Lord's story of how, as a girl of 17, just out of a convent, she married Roche, while playing in Nat Goodwin's company, a position she gained through Roche's influence, reads like a novel. She met him, she says, while in the convent at Woodland, and, dazzled by his apparent knowledge of the world, became infatuated with him.

Her first awakening, after her marriage, she says, came when she found that he was ashamed to introduce him to her parents.

ASHAMED OF HIM.

"They disapproved of him, and that which they objected to in him I have tried to repair for years. I have tried to teach him how to talk and act," she said. "When I told him I did not desire to live with him any longer he threatened to kill me."

"I was married to Billy Roche in Newark, N. J. Justice of the Peace Dempsey officiating. Mrs. James Baxter was one of the witnesses. The others were friends of Billy's. During the last four years I have tried to rid myself of him."

Dispatches today state that no record of the marriage has been filed. As this is not always done, however, the authorities point out, it is no indication as to whether or not Miss Lord's story is true. The marriage was announced in the newspapers at the time it is said to have occurred.

Mrs. Roche makes vehement denial that her husband was ever divorced from her. She is protesting at her home, 420 Steiner street, and in the care of her daughter Katherine.

OTHER WIFE'S STORY.

"Billy Roche and I were married by a priest of the Catholic church in New York twenty-five years ago," said Mrs. Roche. "and the creed to which we both subscribe precludes the idea of divorce. He never told me he contemplated a divorce, and any intimation that he secured a legal separation from me is ridiculous."

There is a letter I received from him on May 17 of this year, which he signed, 'Your husband, Billy.' He addresses me in this letter as 'Dear Nellie,' and writes that he expects to be able soon to aid in the support of myself and the family. "I am unable to understand the statement of Miss Lord that she was once married to Billy Roche. I have been married to Billy Roche since 1890. He returned to New York with the children. Billy's work as a referee brought him back here and he took our two eldest sons with him. In time I rejoined him with the other children and have lived in San Francisco since."

"It was about 1893 that Billy returned east again to referee fights in Madison Square Garden and other places. He has not contributed a cent to the support of myself or the children in four years."

"I have heard frequently that he had become intimate with an actress, but had no idea who she was until recently. My sister, who lives in New York, about four months ago sent me a clipping from a theatrical paper, which contained a picture of Miss Lord and the announcement, and you may imagine my surprise when I read that."

"I refused to believe they were married, as we had never been divorced, and Billy had never intimated to me that it was his intention to obtain a legal separation. Besides that he knows that he has no grounds for divorce from me. Since our marriage I have been a mother to our children and a loyal, home-loving wife. No one knows better than Billy Roche that he has no valid ground for divorce."

"After I received this clipping from my sister I remembered old telegrams and other papers that Billy had among his effects when he was here. I looked these over and found that a woman signing herself Pauline had sent some of the telegrams. There were also receipts for telegram money orders sent to Pauline Lord at different places in the east."

HERE BEFORE FIRE.

"We were married, as I have said, in New York, and came to San Francisco before the fire of 1906. After the fire I returned to New York with the children. Billy's work as a referee brought him back here and he took our two eldest sons with him. In time I rejoined him with the other children and have lived in San Francisco since."

"It was about 1893 that Billy returned east again to referee fights in Madison Square Garden and other places. He has not contributed a cent to the support of myself or the children in four years."

TELEGRAMS READ.

Telegrams from members of the committee unable to attend the session were read by Chairman Bacon, among these being messages from Willis Booth and Philip L. Wilson of Los Angeles, W. B. Griffiths of Napa, W. F. Dixon of Woodland, Captain E. J. Harty of San Diego, and from P. A. Stanton, Republican national committeeman of Los Angeles.

Congressman Kahn, former Governor J. N. Quinn and Pelton Taylor, secretary of the San Francisco Convention League, took part in the conference. Kahn emphasized the vital importance of having a complete case for San Francisco submitted to the national committee. He said that the arrangements for railroad rates, for hotel accommodations, for convention facilities and especially for the guarantee fund of expense should all be in writing ready to lay on the table before the committee.

MONEY IS NEEDED.

"You must be in a position to show the committee," said Kahn, "that you have got the goods. They want to see the money in sight. It was just that show of the coin that helped San Francisco in its fight for the exposition. We were able to produce, while New Orleans said that they would raise the cash, and that was also the reason why Chicago won the Columbian Exposition from New York. The Illinois people showed the coin."

Secretary Taylor advised the committee that the league has a very detailed well in hand. It was suggested that a large and influential committee of citizens should go to Washington and assist in presenting San Francisco's case before the national committee, which will meet there December 14.

The executive committee postponed action on the primary election laws until the attorneys have completed their examination.

Frank P. Woods, chairman of the National Republican Congressional Committee of Washington, D. C., conferred yesterday with three prominent California Republicans at the Commercial Club. Every Congressional district in California, he said, should be organized, and a systematic canvass in the interests of the Republican party made before the next election.

The purpose of the movement, he explained, was to furnish the party authentic information, and trained experts will furnish such information in Washington. Congressman John Kahn acted as vice-chairman of the meeting.

MANY AID TO SECURE G.O.P. SESSION

Real Work to Bring Convention to Bay Is Started.

Following the official meeting of the executive committee of the State Republican Central Committee and the meeting of leaders outlining the details of the campaign actual work was started today on both sides of the bay in the big campaign to bring the 1916 national convention of the Republican party to San Francisco. The entire state, it is expected, will join in the campaign. Commercial organizations, and even members of other parties, will probably aid to carry on the work. Every possible attraction of the bay region will be laid before the committee men, and prominent leaders of the party in every state are to be aligned with California.

The Republicans of California voiced their official support of San Francisco for the convention in resolutions passed yesterday at the session of the executive committee of the state central committee, called by Chairman Walter R. Bacon across the bay. The resolutions follow:

"Whereas, the State of California, by an overwhelming majority, has repudiated so-called non-partisanship, and thus has voted to maintain party integrity; and whereas, this action on the part of the electorate gives the Republican party the opportunity to restore the state to the Republican column; and whereas, the holding of the Republican national convention on the Pacific coast next year will stimulate the party's interests throughout the west and the entire coast; and whereas, San Francisco is an applicant for said convention; and whereas, San Francisco offers every convenience and accommodation necessary to such a convention; therefore,

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the Republicans of the State of California that the best interests of the Republican party be secured by the holding of the national convention of 1916 on the Pacific coast; and further be it

"Resolved, That the executive committee of the Republican State Central Committee, in called meeting assembled, do hereby heartily endorse the claims of San Francisco to selection as the place of meeting of said convention, and urge upon the Republican national committee the great importance that will accrue to the party from the choosing of San Francisco for this representative assemblage of the party."

"Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be sent to every member of the Republican national committee forthwith."

Boy Victim of Loaded Pistol Passes Away

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6.—James W. Fisher, an 18-year-old school boy of 4974 A. Eighth street, who was shot last night by one of his chums, Linton McDonald, died this morning at St. Mary's hospital. The lad received a bullet wound in the stomach and the hole was retained for his recovery.

BRIDEGROOM SHOOTS SELF AT VALLEJO

Broods Over Quarrel With His Friend and Notoriety to Wife.

Brooding over troubles resulting from a quarrel with an old friend and which cost him the honor of a two weeks' marriage, a private in the United States marine corps, stationed at Mare Island, shot and killed himself in a lodging-house early this morning. His name was at his house when he was shot.

Following a brief courtship, McLaughlin was married to Miss Clara Harding of this city two weeks ago. A week later he had trouble with an old friend, Samuel Myrland, also a private in the marine corps. The quarrel developed into a fight, and the two men were arrested for disturbing the peace.

Both were held in the police court here, and pleaded guilty to the charges. They were each fined $10. McLaughlin brooded over the notoriety which his trouble and arrest had brought upon his bride, and he left home three days ago. McLaughlin reported his disappearance to the police, and an unsuccessful search was made for him.

Rooming in a little lodging-house near the water front was startled by a shot this morning. They broke into the room of McLaughlin, and found him lying on his bed, a bullet in his head. He was rushed to a hospital, and his bride notified. She arrived at the bedside before her husband died.

The funeral will be held at Mare Island tomorrow afternoon.

Fights World to Gain Education Death Ends Struggle of School Girl

Search was started today in Oakland and Hayward for supposed relatives of Lott Williams, a 20-year-old high school girl, whose death, in Sacramento, revealed one of the most desperate struggles for an education and a better position in the world ever attempted by a woman. The girl was studying stenography and supporting herself as a kitchen helper. Her relatives, it was thought by the school department, had lived in Hayward, or had moved to Oakland. The body is at the Sacramento morgue awaiting orders.

The girl's history is a tragic one. Sent out of an orphanage into the world at the age of 14, she found work in kitchens, and barely kept body and soul together. Hoping to rise to a better position, she entered the Sacramento high school, studying stenography and commercial work. She supported herself after school hours as a kitchen helper.

The strain proved too much, and, following a cold, tuberculosis seized the girl. She was sent to the emergency hospital when neighbors learned of her plight, but died there. Principal H. O. Williams of the Sacramento high school, the only friend and girl in town, in Sacramento, declares that he knew little of her antecedents, and only of her method of working her way through school through her application for registration. He telegraphed to Hayward and Oakland seeking tidings of her supposed relatives.

GREETINGS TO BE GIVEN LOTTA

Idol of Bygone Generation Is Received at Mole in Oakland.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6.—Welcomed with open arms by the entire city of San Francisco, Lotta Crabtree, idol of a bygone generation, came home today. The overland limited rolled into the Oakland made with the returning daughter about almost exactly on time and the big ferry bore her across the bay under the escort of representatives of the city, the Exposition and the theatrical profession. The greeting by the home town affected Lotta, she said, as nothing had done since her departure from these haunts.

The arrival of Miss Crabtree this morning, precedes a period of celebration and justification in her honor which will have its first public expression at Lotta's fountain tonight. This monument, perhaps the best known of all the landmarks of the city, is situated at the principal crossing at Kearny and Market streets and it will be there that the ceremonies will begin at 7 o'clock tonight. Then there will be Lotta Day exercises at the Court of Abundance on Tuesday and President Charles C. Moore has a bronze medal ready for the actress.

PROGRAM TONIGHT.

Tonight's celebration will take the form of a welcome to the part of Mayor Ralph, President Moore, and Supervisor J. Emmett Hayden. The reception committee of the theatrical profession includes the managers of the local playhouses, J. G. Cotton and Melville Marx of the Columbia, Morris Meyerfeld, of the Orpheum; Homer Curran, of the Court; George Davis, of the Alcazar; W. L. Leahy, of the Tivoli; Ralph Pincus of the Portola; Will L. Greenbaum, the grand opera impresario, and John Morrissey, former manager of the Orpheum.

There will be the official Exposition chorus of 200 voices and there will be an escort of show girls from the Court theater who will serve as a guard of honor to Miss Crabtree, and Miss Carolina White, grand opera star of the Orpheum will sing.

ITALIAN CONSUL ESCAPES BOMB HURT

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—A bomb was exploded next door to the Italian consulate today, G. Fara Forni, the Italian consul-general, was in his office at the time. He was unhurt, as were attendants at the consulate.

Eye witnesses told of damage to the six-story tenement next door. It exploded in the gutter with such force that windows were shattered all over the neighborhood.

A number of Italian reservists were on the street in front of the consulate when the explosion occurred and were thrown to the pavement. Except for bruises, however, they escaped injury.

One Italian was arrested. He was taken to headquarters and charged with being implicated in causing the explosion.
